IN-HOME RESILIENCY & SUPPORT SERVICES (IRSS)

What is IRSS?

IRSS provides community-based and in-home treatment services for children, adolescents and young adults (ages 3 to 21) in Adams County who are experiencing distress related to trauma. Services follow the research-based Trauma Systems Therapy model. Trauma is defined as experiencing an event that involved death or serious injury, or a threat to the physical safety of self or others. IRSS engages the individual's family and other members of their support system.

What services does IRSS provide?

- Comprehensive assessment of trauma and behavior concerns or impacts
- Individual and family therapy
- Safety-focused treatment, including plans for preventing or coping with crisis
- Coaching and skills building
- Medication evaluation and guidance

Referral Process

IRSS accepts referrals from individuals, as well as community partners, including mental health organizations, residential facilities, child welfare agencies, hospitals and schools.

Benefits to the Consumer

- Increased sense of safety, improved academic success and better relationships with friends and family – Because Every Day Matters.
